From the Chaplain (December 2005)

My dear friends,

“Thanks be to God for His indescribable gift.”
- 2 Corinthians 9:15

What a privilege it is for me to open the door for you to the Christmas that is at hand as once again we hear the incredible story of how God stepped out of eternity and into time. Yes, it is my profound privilege to tell you about the love of the eternal God and how that love reached all the way to you.

You see, love always finds a way. God’s love for us found a way to do what seemed impossible. Love found a way to save us, to bring us joy, and to bring peace to our lives. Love reached all the way to where we were and brought us hope and a way for us to go home. Love broke through the darkness of this world and brought the promise of new life.

Love finds a way. It always does. Nothing can keep God’s love from touching your heart. There is no door in the universe that can keep God out. His love will follow you, call to you and whisper your name every day of your life.

Love found a way to give us the greatest gift, the gift we needed the most – Jesus Christ. Love found a way when that gift was born in a manger in Bethlehem.

My prayer for you this month is that this marvelous love of God will enfold you as we celebrate the glorious Gift of Christmas –the birth of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

In the holiness of this blessed season,

Chaplain Sandy Anenson
