

January 2010

Dear Friends,

We have reached the end of another year and now face a new one. We stood in this same place last year, looking ahead to 365 days of opportunity. As we reflect on the past year I trust that we can see God's signature on the days of our lives; that He was faithful to His word and that His grace was more than sufficient for the living of our days.

Even as we look back, we look forward to a New Year. How exciting to look ahead with eyes of faith, knowing that as we face the unknown, God goes before us and that our lives are held in His hands.

Oh there is always some apprehension when we face the unknown. I trust that we will not let fear and potential dangers cause us to miss the adventure of walking in God's love and grace. Think of all the things God is going to teach us in the New Year and the many ways we are going to see Him at work.

I pray that you will live in the wonder of God's amazing and incredible love for you; and that every day you will see His presence and possibilities in your life.

May the words of Jesus echo in our hearts, "Lo I am with you always, even to the end of the age."

In His joy,

Chaplain Sandy

Chaplain Sandy Anenson